A good researcher in business promotions and a firm believer of the implementation of modern business management technologies. His skills in agro business spans for a period of more than three decades as he has always been in farming enterprises since 1986, starting from his own dry land crop farming, marketing gardening for horticulture products, broiler production and to the export of commercial products like Paprika to the Republic of South Africa and Rhodes grass (Chloris Guyana) seed to the Middle East.

He is a marketer of reputable character, result oriented and building of excellent customer relationships these skills he obtained when he had ten years working as an insurance financial advisor for two of the biggest insurance companies in Zimbabwe namely Old Mutual and Zimnat Life. During that time, he got certificates and awards in new business acquisition, customer service and business planning and management.

Local Experience

From 2013 to 2017 was engaged as a business and operations Manager for GM FIVE an agro Business owned and run by the late Sir QKJ Masire. During that time he managed to grow GM FIVE horticulture business at Maradu Farm in Lobatse from 3 hectares to 42 hectares under drip irrigation with one hectare under shed net. At the same time he managed to revive GM FIVE broiler project in Mmamokhasi Kanye which had closed for more than five years and rejuvenated it to a production capacity of 24 000 birds per cycle under a contract he negotiated with Choppies group.

From 2017 to 2019 he helped expand Vegeieland horticulture Farm in Kopje develop from 3 hectares to 8 hectares with two quarter hectare under shed net.

Currently has been leading the setting up and development of the family agro-business with the expansion of Tanny's Poultry from a capacity of 3 000 broilers in 2017 to the current 6 000 capacity. Development of Greenly farm from a ploughing field in 2017 to the current integrated farming operations with a sizeable number of indigenous goats, sheep, chicken, field crops and the current Oyster mushroom production project.

His main objective is to turn around the view, the population has of agri-business into a positive alternative to economic diversification, by using evidence-based scenarios in production, income and management systems. Help create a synergy and working relationship among all stake holders in the Agriculture Industries to ensure economic diversification, employment creation, rural development and food security for the country.

To achieve his stated goals, he has already started working to identify passionate young farmers and help take them on board on a mentorship program and take them through for at least two years until they become commercial farmers.
